"Every great dream begins with a dreamer. Always remember, you have within you the strength, the patience and the passion to reach for the stars to change the world."

Harriet Tubman

Good day fellow members of the Rotary Club of Baguio, rotary spouses and kids (grown up kids) friends of Rotary and Guests. Welcome to our last Saturday regular meeting for the TRF month, November 2022, a day of Thanksgiving the RC Baguio – Team Pasikat way. Today, I am most honored to welcome our Guest of Honor and Speaker, Mr. Joselito Baluda Shontogan, who will give a talk about the city and people we love, "Knowing the Cordillerans."

On the 2nd week, we have conducted our 2nd Medical Dental and Legal Mission at the Abanao Square Mall with a good number of members, partners in service which includes the Philippine Dental Association – Baguio Chapter, the Abanao Square Mall, Barangay Azcko and our very own the Rotaract Club of Baguio SLU-School of Medicine.

Nine of us have also attended the TRF Banquet held in Clark, where two of our colleagues, the generous Past Presidents Bert Talco and Chris Fernando Faelnar, were recognized for their being Major Donors Level 1.

Not only that, our Grant Committee had finally, successfully sent RC Baguio's first Global Grant for authorization, a great way to end RC Baguio's TRF month for this RY 2022 – 2023.

On that week the RC Baguio family was saddened due to the sudden demise of our dear Sumi Jeanne Marie "JM" Ty. She was our Program Coordinator last September 03, 2022 and she had also attended our 1st Medical Mission on 01 Sept 2022. May you rest in peace JM. A good number of us attended the Mass and Service offered by our club for her. Another opportunity for us members to show our unity in paying our last respects. I believed she is then happy and smiling bubbly as she was looking at us from up above.

We have also recently concluded the first art masterpieces of our learners from our adopted child development centers. What better sunshine is there to see the sweetest smiles from learners from our adopted day care centers for their amazing achievements in painting their master pieces. The parents and teachers were also wearing genuine smiles of happiness and pride. What a fulfillment of what we thought was just a dream as we imagined this project way back then, the first months of this RY's term.

In one of the meetings with the volunteer teachers, a feeding program was suggested by Dir Susan for her to incorporate her YAKAP project but it is still not allowed because of the pandemic. Hence the giving of multivitamins was then incorporated to this project.

We only did not achieve our goals in helping our learners enhance their skills, but also build peace and unity among the learners, parents, guardians, us members of the Rotary Club of Baguio, the volunteer teachers, the city government of Baguio especially the city library and the city social development office and to the communities that we serve.

Project 1 has also paved the way in community building, as we will soon have the Next Step, (Dir Glen's project), in Economic and community development. These masterpieces will be presented on December 10, 2022 in our next major project – Caring is Sharing, our immersion gift giving project to our dear learners.

Last Thursday, 24 November 2022, I, together with the Presidents and other members of Cluster 1C joined the thousand participants from all the 10 Districts in our country in the DEI Town Hall held in PICC, Manila with no less than the Rotary International President Jennifer Jones as the Guest of Honor and Speaker with 5 panelists including our very own Governor, Gov Ann Lorenzana on the interesting topic on Diversity, Equity and Inclusion.

It is just fitting, 25 November is a Day of Thanksgiving as celebrated in the USA, but also in our club, the Rotary Club of Baguio way, this year, the Team Pasikat way, and for me, Thanksgiving is every day, as I would like to acknowledge, and thank you all for the past 2 weeks for attending our projects:

Addressing conflict through a grassroots process that puts people at the center and involves the whole community is a way to create lasting change — and the approach that's the basis of the partnership between Rotary and Mediators Beyond Borders International.

MBBI collaborates with Rotary clubs and districts around the world on peacebuilding efforts. The group brings its expertise in a mediation process defined by community collaboration and empowerment, and Rotary lends its credibility, trust, and deeply rooted local knowledge.

In partnership, the organizations create opportunities for difficult dialogues and train local facilitators, with a special focus on increasing women leadership in mediation and peacebuilding.

"It's a multiplier effect," says Scott Martin, a founding member of MBBI and Rotary Peace Fellow. "Together, we ask, 'Who else needs to be included,' help affected parties connect to the humanity in each other and themselves and facilitate conversations that can be lifesaving."

MBBI also works regularly with clubs to focus inwards, a program called 'Peace Conversation Facilitation' (PCF) that helps members discuss challenging topics, and builds consensus around issues that affect their respective communities.

"We can each hear about a problem and each have a different understanding of it," Martin says. MBBI can help clubs move beyond talking about an issue to creating the kinds of engagement that are healthy and productive for everyone involved.

Conflict is "an essential part of the human experience," Martin says. The key, however, is to not ignore or sidestep it, but to address it, keep it from escalating into violence, and learn from it. This can transform the energy that drives conflict into more inclusive, constructive interactions, and ultimately safer, more connected, and more prosperous communities.

Martin says Rotary's focus on working alongside affected people, business leaders, and coalescing with communities as a whole is very much in keeping with this ethos. "The new vision for Rotary is inspiring," he says. "It's bringing about change among ourselves and in the community, and measuring that impact."

Global Citizen Festival excites passion for service in Ghana

EIC/PP Libby Fernandez

Editor-in-Chief / Past President
Rotary Club of Baguio

Ernest Afun of the Rotary Club of Accra East and Chinazo Asunwa of the Rotary Club of Accra Legon East during the Global Citizen Festival in Accra, Ghana.

By Julian Andoh, president of the Rotaract Club of Accra-La East, Ghana

I was standing at the Black Star Square, a large public space in Accra, watching a global change movement happen right before my eyes. And the best part? It was a concert.

It all started when I was scrolling through social media and came across a flyer for a concert in Accra. I wondered what organization could get all these artists to come to Ghana to hold a concert this big. A quick Google search gave me the answer: Global Citizen, an action platform dedicated to rallying people around critical issues of climate change, poverty, and inequality.

I wanted to attend the concert not only to watch amazing performances, but also to be a part of this movement. I followed Global Citizen on social media, downloaded their app, and signed the petitions necessary to be sent a ticket. Failing to redeem it within the given time, I signed more petitions hoping to get another chance, but then I was told that Rotaractors all over Ghana were welcome to attend the concert because Rotary International has been a supporter of the Global Citizen Campaign.

As the president of my Rotaract club, which chartered three months ago, I was elated. It was a good opportunity to get members even more excited about Rotaract and what it has to offer.

I was also thrilled by the thought of getting the chance to finally watch Usher perform live. Rotaractors across Ghana came in numbers. We took pictures and secured spots in front as the Black Star Square got even more crowded

The crowd cheered as the first performer, Stonebwoy, pulled up to the stage on a horse. He started his performance with his hit song 'Run Go,' which talks about economic hardship and opines that all we ask for is a simple life where we can all at least enjoy food, shelter, and love. I thought it was a perfect show opener.

After that, various artists (both local and foreign) graced the stage, including one of my personal favorites, Stormzy, who is involved in several charities. He brought on stage two of Ghana's favorite artists: Yaw Tog and Kwesi Arthur, and the trio, along with fans, shook the place with energy in their hit song, a remix of "Sore." The chorus of the song means "We will rise."

The show ended with a performance by Usher. As a young boy, I had his songs on repeat on my digital music player. I remember I used to tell my friends in primary school he was my big brother because Usher is my middle name.

I found the festival unforgettable for several reasons:

- It united people through music

It meant the world to me, as a professional guitarist, to see the power of music at work and to see music being used as a vessel to bring youth and global leaders together to create change. I'm personally excited about the future of music and its impact on the world at large.

- It helped bridge the gap between Africa and the rest of the world

I do believe it will create a ripple effect in the entertainment industry, especially in Ghana, as the attention of more international organizations, individuals, and brands, are drawn toward my country.

- It innovatively promoted service

The Global Citizen organization made sure the concert was a free ticketed event, making tickets accessible to people who signed petitions. By this means, Global Citizen secured many petitions on pressing global issues. Guests and global leaders rallied behind the call to eradicate polio, empower girls, and end poverty.

I was inspired because, as Rotaractors, we have a responsibility to effect positive change in the world through youthful and engaging activities. The festival has energized Rotaract members across Ghana to be more excited about service.

I was honored to be a part of the social media team for the festival, and Rotaractors across Ghana were more than happy to help with the social media campaign.

It was a beautiful sight to see youth taking pride in campaigning for global change. During the festival and shortly after, I got many inquiries from young people asking me about Rotaract and it was amazing to see several people express interest in joining a Rotaract club near them.

THE CAÑAO EMBLEM

Our Official Club Bulletin has been called The Cañao. "Cañao" (pronounced as kan-yau) is actually the local term for the dance during native feasts or celebrations in the highlands of the Cordilleras- in Northern Luzon of the Philippines.

This is depicted in our Cañao emblem which shows a number of human figures in deep concentration—absorbed in ritual dance.

The attention, focus, commitment and unity of the club's members is represented by the dancing figures—in celebration or expectation of a bountiful harvest; much as we actually do—in anticipation of the joy derived from public service to the community—always coupled with fellowship. Hence, the sub-title of "A Celebration of Service."

Rotary Club of Baguio

THE RCB LOGO

The Rotary Club of Baguio (RCB) was chartered on 21 February 1938. The 4,587th member of Rotary International and the oldest club organized North of Manila; the 6th chartered Rotary Club in the entire Philippines.

Our over-simplified club logo (red) is a composite of the letters r, c & B; this is symbolic of the club's straightforwardness. Over-all cardioid-heart shape connotes that our members serve from the heart. The four basic elements (four quadrants— now 3D bevelled) are symbolic of Rotary's Four-Way Test and the members' commitment to it. Our charter year of 1938 is used as the mid-focal point of the logo, to emphasize our early beginnings and continuing dedication to Service Above Self.
