THE CAÑAO & NEW EMBLEM

Symbolizing unity, joy, and gratitude, "Cañao" (pronounced kan-yau) is a traditional dance from the Cordilleras in Northern Luzon of the Philippines, celebrated during feasts and gatherings.

Our new emblem shows a male and female in ritual dance within a native gong—honoring abundance, much like how we celebrate service and fellowship in Rotary. Truly, "A Celebration of Service."

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

UNITING FOR GOOD, SERVING WITH HEART

Dear Fellow Rotarians, every week, as I sit down to write the President's Message, I am reminded that this is both a privilege and a joyful challenge.

It's not just about reporting events—it's about capturing the heartbeat of our club and sharing it with each of you in a way that inspires and uplifts. But crafting this message also means waiting—waiting for moments worth telling, for stories that warm the heart, and for experiences that remind us why we choose to be Rotarians.

Yesterday brought just such an occasion. We gathered—both in person and virtually—for the Grant Management Seminar (GMS) via Zoom. While many attended from the comfort of their homes, a lively “watch Zoom party” took place at Ex-Rtn. Joseph Kim’s Urban Hotel Karaoke Room, turning what could have been an ordinary online session into an afternoon of camaraderie.

My heartfelt thanks go to VP Lou and Secretary Cora for organizing and leading this unique gathering. And to the rest of the attendees—PPs Atom, Chris, and Ali; PE Reymund; Rtns Kat and Arlene; and of course, yours truly, tuning in from a remote city—thank you for making the effort to be present. Nine warm bodies coming together for a shared purpose may seem like a number, but behind those numbers are faces, friendships, and a shared commitment to learn and grow for the good of our communities.

As I write this, our preparations for the very first Fireside Chat with our incoming member, Dr. Bong Naguit, are already brimming with excitement. The warm hospitality of Director Ed Ramos, who has graciously opened his home for the occasion, ensures that this will be more than just a formal gathering—it will be a night of genuine fellowship, heartfelt conversations, and the joy of welcoming someone new into our Rotary family.

Dr. Bong, on behalf of the Rotary Club of Baguio, I extend to you our warmest welcome. You will soon discover that our club is more than a collection of individuals—it is a vibrant tapestry of personalities, experiences, and passions, all woven together by our shared belief in Service Above Self. I have no doubt that your presence will bring fresh energy, valuable insights, and yes, a new flavor to our already dynamic fellowship.

Let me close with a thought from the Good Book that feels especially relevant as we embrace new members and new opportunities: “Be the salt of the Earth.” Salt adds taste, preserves, and enhances what is good—and in many ways, so do we as Rotarians. We season our communities with kindness, preserve the values of service and integrity, and enhance the lives of those we touch.

So, dear Rotarians, let's continue to be that “salt”—adding meaning, depth, and joy wherever we serve. From RC Baguio, with hearts united for good, let's keep shining together.

YAKAP PROJECT

PROJECT DESCRIPTION:

On 09 August 2025, Rotary Club of Baguio partnered with Dona Aurora Elementary School to deliver a one-day maternal and child care intervention.

Six Rotarians led a combined feeding program, health-education session, and distribution of nutrition supplements and teaching materials to 150 Grade 1–3 pupils and their mothers.

The goal was to boost children's micronutrient intake, model healthy meal preparation, and provide essential school supplies to increase attendance and learning readiness.

IMMEDIATE IMPACT: The children received multivitamin dose, mothers gained practical, low-cost recipes for daily meal planning, pupils left with brand-new school bags and basic learning kits, Zero out-of-pocket cost to families, removing a barrier to attendance

Long-Term Benefits By combining direct nutrition support with mother-focused education and school-ready materials, this initiative • Strengthens maternal engagement in child health • Reduces short-term hunger and micronutrient gaps • Encourages sustained improvement in school participation • Builds a replicable model for Rotary's maternal & child care outreach

Rotary Club of Baguio extends its gratitude to Dona Aurora Elementary School's leadership, the participating mothers and pupils, and to IPP Susan and VP Lou for their generous donations. This project exemplifies Rotary's commitment to "Every Child, Every Day" by nurturing both young learners and the caregivers who guide them.

THE QUIET WISDOM OF THREE COLUMNS

When you open the latest editions of our Cañao Club Bulletin, you may notice something that feels subtly different yet pleasantly familiar—three neat columns on each page, with only the first two filled with text and the third reserved for a writer's image. At first glance, it may simply seem like a matter of style. But as with most good design, there's a deeper purpose behind it—rooted in history, guided by practicality, and aimed at making your reading experience more enjoyable.

Long before glossy magazines and digital screens, the humble newspaper ruled the world of printed information. Back then, editors and printers faced a unique challenge: how to fit as much news as possible on large sheets of paper, without tiring the reader's eyes or making the page feel overwhelming. Their solution? Narrow columns. This approach wasn't just about saving space—it was about guiding the reader's eye in smooth, manageable sweeps, making reading more fluid and less fatiguing.

In fact, newspaper designers learned early on that the human eye prefers short lines of text. When lines stretch too far across a page, readers often lose their place or grow tired faster. Narrow columns, on the other hand, keep the rhythm of reading steady, like the gentle tick of a clock. Your eyes can easily leap from the end of one line to the beginning of the next without effort. That's why, to this day, even modern news websites and magazines borrow this format—it works.

In our Cañao, we've chosen to adapt this wisdom, but with a fresh twist. While traditional newspapers fill all their columns with text, we dedicate our third column to something more personal:

the writer's image. The three-quarter portrait does more than decorate the page—it builds a connection. It reminds you that behind every article is a fellow Rotarian, a friend, a storyteller eager to share not just information, but perspective.

You may also notice something else in our design: white space. These are the gentle breathing spaces around our text and images. In the past, our Club Bulletin often crammed every inch with ink, believing more content meant more value. But design thinking has evolved. Today, we understand that white space is not "empty" at all—it's as important as the printed words. It gives the eyes room to rest, helps the mind absorb information, and makes the page feel inviting rather than crowded.

Think of it like conversation. In good dialogue, pauses carry weight; they allow meaning to settle. In reading, white space does the same—it lets the ideas rest before the next ones arrive. By balancing text with space, we're not only making the Cañao easier to read but also more welcoming to browse, whether you have five minutes or an unhurried afternoon.

So next time you flip through our pages, notice the gentle order: two columns to guide your reading, one column to greet you with a face, and just enough open space to let the stories breathe. It's a nod to the best traditions of the newspaper craft and a step forward in making our bulletin not just informative, but enjoyable.

After all, our Cañao is more than a record of events—it is a conversation between friends. And in any good conversation, the way we speak matters as much as what we say.
